115 With F.M.L.

The Careful Reader of this column has seen trooped before him (or her) for years the great, near great, would-be great and as many of the others as anyplace else in Central Texas.

It's been 115's fortune to meet just about all the types in all the places. I would not take anything for this. In any compendium of whatever someday may be considered representative of all those experiences in all those places, I think a place should be made for a 104 column, below.

In looking at the dearth of leadership, almost anyplace in Washington, in Texas, abroad, I am constantly turned back to Dallas when Kennedy, Johnson and Connally, all of whom shared the imponderables of this era, were alive, only to be ducking or catching bullets minutes later.

I am not sure John Kennedy would have been a great president, had he lived, nor am I enamored of the Kennedy legend which Ted Kennedy wisely ended the other day. But we must admit these three men among others of the 60s seemed to have a sense of direction, even misdirection in some views, but at least a verve, a confidence, a view forward.

The 70s is not yielding such a view and has not yet yielded such men. A quietude, more an uncertainty has set in because we are catching up with events or events are catching us up. It seems a time of ennui without entity. We are adrift in a sea of calculation: and this is not enough. A postwar era ended with Vietnam, but not the world nor its trade, culture or fascination. We are allowing gray to discolor the beauty of a cosmic deep.

Something even more vital than a young president died that day, and traceable from it are the contingencies which are to be met and placed in perspective: a few percentiles of a budget which are insurance against the unexpected, but not the stuff of life itself.

This is the 104 I recall:

QUOTE:

Stillness, muffled disbelief, open despair soon fell Friday upon the crowd of some 2,000 Dallas civic leaders, Texas Democrats and press at the Dallas Trade Mart.

This writer was among the unbelieving press corps when the fateful news of President Kennedy's and Governor Connally's shooting was announced.

Instantaneous shock--the same that swept the nation--pervaded the futuristic hallway as Eric Johnson (sic), chairman of the program, announced in grief-muted tones that incredible tragedy had struck just 15 blocks from the Hall. The President was en route to address the group.

City To Host Crafts Fair

Arts, crafts and barbeque in an informal outdoor setting at City Park are expected to draw thousands of visitors to Cameron Saturday for the first annual Cameron Arts and Crafts Fair.

Mayor Gene Blake has proclaimed Saturday Arts and Crafts Recognition Day and Mr. and Mrs. Dana Kestenbaum have been appointed official hosts for the Fair.

More than 50 artists and craftsmen from across the state will fill booths especially constructed for the show and crafts will be demonstrated during the day at the Cameron Public Library.

Weaving and spinning demonstrations are scheduled continuously from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Library and chair caning, knitting, macrame, china painting, and fly tieing demonstrations from 10 a.m. until 12 noon. Also at the Library will be paintings, quilting, and hand-craft exhibits.

Food concessions will be located at the Park pavilion including Dean Trubee barbeque served by the Cameron Volunteer Fire Department, desserts sold by the United Methodist Church Women, and coffee served by Church Women United. Mrs. Dana Monroe is in charge of soft drink concessions.

The Arts and Crafts Fair will benefit the proposed Milam County Museum to be located in the old Milam County Jail. The Chamber of Commerce Ladies Auxiliary is sponsoring the Fair with Mrs. Don Humble as chairman.

In case of rain, the Fair will be moved to the National Guard Armory.

CRAFT DEMONSTRATION-Mary Jo Stroup of Cameron will demonstrate weaving during the first annual Arts and Crafts Fair Saturday at Cameron City Park and the Cameron Public Library. Other demonstrations at the library will include spinning, macrame, knitting, china painting, chair caning, and fly tieing. Fair time is scheduled for 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Trustees OK Portable Classroom

Cameron school board members meeting Monday night approved purchase of a two-room portable classroom to be put up back of Ben Milam School and to be used for remedial reading classes.

Approval for the contract is contingent on approval by the Texas Education Agency, which is expected to come within the next few weeks.

The building's cost of $15,940, is to be met with Title I funds. The building will be heated and air conditioned and will be of laminated aluminum exterior with paneled interior, and will include two restrooms.

In other business, Supt. Buddy Dulin reported that construction on the new field house is moving slowly, with the roof ready to be poured so that work on the interior can begin. Start of construction on new science classrooms for Yoe High will await estimate of building funds available once the field house is finished

Trustees also approved having the superintendent and the administration prepare revisions for shcool policies, with presentation of the revisions in the spring.

The board acted on a request from County School Supt. Max McClaren to raise adult education teachers salaries to $7 per hour. Vote was to have salaries stay at $6 per hour.

The school calendar was revised with a vote to have school on Nov. 1, which had been marked as meeting day for TSTA. A workday for teachers scheduled for Jan. 3 was changed to Dec. 21. Dulin said a day would be picked for use as a self-evaluation day for teachers.

Supt. Dulin reported to trustees about findings noted by an accrediation team which visited the schools recently.

An official report is due from the team, to be published for public information.

Dulin's unofficial report included notations on all four schools. Overcrowding, poor library facilities, poor dressing rooms and restrooms, not enough use of the media center, and no playground equipment were just a few of the items in the first report.

The team did approve the activity period features at O. J. Thomas School, but said there is not enough participation by teachers in the in-service training for all schools.

Dulin explained that the school system is now accredited, and purpose of the visit of the accreditation team is to develop better school programs.

Time for the November school board meeting was changed to 7 p.m.

Groundbreaking Set At Buckholts For New Church

Groundbreaking for the construction of the new sanctuary of Hope Lutherna Church, Buckholts, will be held in connection with Sunday worship, 10:15 a.m., Oct.20.

The Johnny Vanicek Construction Company of Temple will erect this $126,000 edifice designed by the Danze and Davis Architectural Firm of Austin. Additional costs, fees, and furnishings of some $20,000 are anticipated. Miller-Cowan and Associated are providing cushioned pews to match the wall to wall carpeting and the paneled interior. Faceted glass windows will be furnished by Smith Studios of Fort Worth.

Construction is expected to be complete by April 1975.

Participating in the actual groundbreaking will be Ervie E. Braun, the present pastor of Hope Lutheran, Leo Danze, the architect, Johnny Vanicek, contractor, Wilburn Beckhusen, president of the congregation, and W. A. Persky, chairman of the Building Committee. Other members of the Building Committee are Clement Synatzske, Calvin Rachui, Robert Jungmann, Mrs. Hulda Pagel, Mrs. A. W. Zajicek, Jr., and Mrs. Jimmy Hauk.

Several members have aided in the preparation of the construction site among who are Joe Glaser, Raymond Schneider, and Leland Jungmann. The alter from the old sanctuary will be used in the new sanctuary after being refurbished with gold leaf and fresh paint by Mrs. A. W. Zajicek, Jr., an accomplished artist in the congregation.

Financing of the new structure is being arranged through the Ben Milam Savings and Loan of Cameron, and a building fund drive to raise a hoped for $20,000 plus, will commence on October 27, with home to home visitation by the congregation's leadership.

Absentee Voting Open

Absentee voting for the November general election opened Wednesday, and persons who are unable to come to a polling place or who will be out of the county at the time of election, are reminded that they can vote by mail or by absentee ballot at the County Clerk's office.

McCall Resigns As Constable Because Of Pay

One Milam County constable turned in his resignation because of salary and another appeared before commissioners Monday morning objecting to the salary he is receiving.

Commissioners accepted the resignation of Warren McCall, constable of Precinct 6, whose letter of resignation stated he was not receiving enough salary to cover his expenses.

Meeting with the commissioners was P. L. Paris, constable of Precinct 8. His complaint stemmed from a news story in a county newspaper which stated his salary would be increased $19 a month while the the salary of Spud Caywood, constable of Precinct 4 would be raised $45 a month when the new budget goes into effect.

The news story said Caywood would be offered the increase because he did not have help from a deputy sheriff in his precinct. Paris stated that he had no deputy help either.

County Judge O. B. Harden told Paris he would be welcome to appear at a hearing for the salary increases for county officials, and submit a request for any change in salary he felt would be appropriate.

Accidental Shot Kills Houston Man At Davilla

A ruling of accidental death by gunshot wound is expected from Cameron Justice of the Peace Jess Brock in the death of a Houston man Sunday night near Davilla.

The victim was identified as Kenneth Lynn Freeman, 45, who was found dead about 6:30 Sunday evening in a trailer on a ranch northwest of Davilla.

Sheriff Carl Black said Freeman was apparently shot while cleaning his 30-30 rifle, which was found lying on the floor beside him.

Justice of the Peace Brock said apparently one shell had hung up in the rifle and was discharged accidnetly, striking Freeman in the left side of his chest.

Council Hears West Side Woes

A delegation of black citizens representing residents of northwest Cameron appeared before the city council Tuesday evening protesting conditions in their part of town and asking for code enforcement on livestock kept in the area.

Julius Whiteside, spokesman for the group, outlined situations including pot-holed streets, blind corners, flooding, mosquitoes, trash dumping in a park area and livestock.

He said it is "pathetic" to drive down West 6th and 8th Streets where streets are full of holes. Whiteside said taxpayers in the area wonder why something can't be done by the city to correct condition of streets.

He also spoke of flooding in the area during heavy rains, with water coming up to houses. The mosquito problem is bad because water stands in some places after rains. Whiteside said hogs, chickens, cattle and horses are still kept in the residential area in spite of city codes prohibiting them.

Old furniture and other trash is being dumped in a park area, he added, as residents have some problems with trash collection.

Mayor Gene Blake thanked the residents for coming and said, "We need to know about these things." He explained that the city planning commission is representative of all sections of town and should be aware of conditions in the west section. He noted that funds from a new federal grant would be used in west Cameron for sewer lines, removal of abandoned houses and a park near junior high.

He said complaints about livestock should be signed for action by the city police and attorney. Blake also said he would get the grader to level gravel streets, which will have dust abatement work scheduled for spring and summer.

In other business, council voted to buy a new addressing machine for water bills, reappointed Lincoln Mondrik to the Folk Fete board, appointed Mondrik and City Secy. Buddy Fuller to draw up a list of city-owned property and authorized Fuller to dispose of obsolete records.

The mayor proclaimed Saturday as Arts and Crafts Recognition Day in Cameron when a show and sale will be held at city park.

The meeting ended with another long discussion on street paving. Council agreed that streets could be paved when all residents on a street put up their share of the cost and agree to have curbs and gutters installed.

County Votes Issue Of Bonds For Alcoa

Milam County commissioners adopted a resolution in a regular session Monday agreeing to the issuance of up to $45 million in revenue bonds for financing environmental control equipment which will be reimbursed by the users--ALCOA and Texas Power & Light Co. The pollution abatement facilities will be installed in the proposed expansion of the electrical generating plant adjacent to ALCOA's Rockdale Works.

TP&L will own about 17.5 percent of the new generating unit at the 20 year old power plant.

The resolution and ensuing negotiations are in accordance with provisions of the Texas Clean Air Financing Act of 1973 permitting governmental subdivisions to aid industries in financing air pollution abatement projects.

The funds will finanace the acquisition and construcpon of environmental control facilities for the new 575 megawatt generating unit, which will more than double the capacity of the lignite-fired power station supplying ALCOA's Milam County smelter--the nation's largest aluminum plant.

"The bonds and all direct and overhead expenses will be reimbursed by ALCOA and TP&L," said Milam County Judge O. B. Harden. "It should be understood that no tax money will be used in any manner. In fact, the use of tax money for such purposes is strictly prohibited by the enabling legislation."

The resolution is subject to a mutually satisfactory agreement by ALCOA, TP&L, and the commissioners as well as approval by the State of Texas.

Judge Harden said a venture of this type certainly meets the public interest test under which the commissioners court operates.

"We recognize that industry is facing costly and ever tightening environmental regulation," he pointed out. "The legislation adopted in Texas and a number of other states authorizes governmental bodies such as the commissioners court to assist local industry through issuance of tax exempt bonds for pollution control expenditures.

City Collision Injures Four

Four person, including two children received injuries in a collision at the intersection of 15th and Central about 11:45 a.m. Saturday.

Treated and released from a local hospital were Carl Burnett, 18, of Cameron; and Mrs. Carolyn Eichinger and her two sons, also of Cameron.

Police reported heavy damage to both vehicles.

United Fund Agency...

United Fund To Aid Livestock Show Barn

The Junior Livestock Show Building Fund is a new agency requesting help from United Fund this year and $1,000 has been earmarked to go into the building fund.

The Milam County Livestock Association, which sponsors the county junior livestock show each year, has for years dreamed of an exposition building where the show could be held, along with other events for county youth. The site could also be used for farmers market, the annual junior broiler show, and special sales.

A site for the building will become available with implementation of the city's urban renewal area extension, according to A. W. McCullin, urban renewal director. However, McCullin said, the city will not be allowed to put up a building using urban renewal funds.

Probable cost of the exposition building is from $30,000 to $34,000. The Livestock Association now has a "kitty" with some funds for the building, but not very much, Bill McCutncen said. The building would be of open construction with enclosed ring for shows.

No official fund drives for the building has been launched yet, McCutchen said. The $1,000 from United Fund would be "a start." The Association is waiting to see what facilities will be available under the urban renewal program.

The annual junior livestock show draws over a hundred entries each year from Milam County 4-H and FFA youth. The junior broiler show held each year also draws a large number of entries from all over the county.

The space to be available in the extended urban renewal area would be part of land set aside for public re-use, and would include space for parking.

At the present time, the junior livestock show is usually held in the old cotton compress building, which is poorly lighted and usually features freezing temperatures as the show is held in February. The junior broiler show is usually held in whatever space is available at the time of the show.

Eating More Direct?

Texas cattlemen must be asking the same question these days that everyone asks from time to time: "Is all this worth it?"

To slaughter or not to slaughter? To keep or give away? To sell or not to sell? To go broke standing still or go out swinging?

Lone beneficiary thus far is the Methodist Home in Waco which has been given some calves from the Stephenville area. They will be fed to maturity at Home property.

The cattle and dairymen are hurting in public image because the housewife is paying the same price over the counter for meat or dairy products, regardless of the price of milk or beef ahoof to the producer.

This has happened before in dairy, produce and other commodities. Some have poured milk by the tankcarful in protest. Thousands of chickens have been destroyed. Crops have been burned or left to rot in fields.

The Stephenville cattlemen have the attention of the White House, But they are no nearer a solution than when this started some days ago. And if the slaughter goes on, the public reaction may be to forego beef protein.

People in this country may be compelled to duplicate the solution in others: eat the grain direct, rather than the more expensive, more popular consumption of grain-fed beef.

Before Another 'Hee-Haw'!

Bell County Sheriff Lester Gunn is telling Belton civic leaders that Bell County's old jail is a "shame and disgrace."

He warns Bell County is courting trouble in potential violence or a civil rights suit over conditions.

"We've been lucky to get by with it as long as we have," he told Belton Rotarians the other day.

We'll bet Sheriff Gunn has heard about Milam County's new jail. As far as we know, a lot of people realize it is a good example of what county jails can be.

Sheriff Gunn should be congratulated for acknowledging conditions before they erupt and before a county's calaboose creates another "hee-haw" in the Texas penal establishment.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

Rep. Edward I. Kock (N. Y.)" . . .I would like to bring to the attention of our colleagues a heinous situation involving the milking and bilking of consumers by the Dairylea Cooperative in New York State. In this case the consumers included many children and pregnant women.

"While the offenders in this case must be indicted and prosecuted, we must also take steps to prevent recurrences of such practices. Presently the Food and Drug Administration audits the operation of State and local inspection facilities for milk processors. Supervision is limited to testing for bacteria, microbiotics, and other contamination in milk. I have written to the FDA to ask that the watering down of milk be included in its supervisory inspection of local dairy producers.

"The following letter to . . .Attorney General Saxbe describes the situation in detail. . ." (Excerpts from the letter follow):

Washington D. C.

September 25, 1974

Attorney General William Saxbe,
The U.S. Justice Department,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Saxbe: I am enclosing a letter sent to Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz with regard to the adulteration of thousands of gallons of milk by the Dairylea Cooperative of New York State. This is a deplorable situation that I believe requires the immediate attention of the Department of Justice.

I also want to bring to your attention a satement made by Bruce Snow, public relations manager of Dairylea. Mr. Snow described the adulterlation as an act of true desperation "by an industry trying to remain solvent."

I urge that you initiate criminal proceedings forthwith against the individual directors of Dairylea responsible for this outrage.

Sincerely,
Edward I. Kock

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

Millions of quarts of mislabelled watered-down milk was sold over a five and one half year period. What happened to local and state inspection services?

Candidates Report High CostsOf Campaigning

The high cost of campaigning for statewide office in the State of Texas continues to be evident.

Incumbent Gov. Dolph Briscoe reports expenditures from March through September 26 at approximately $800,000.

Republican gubernatorial hopeful Jim Granberry reported expenses of $412,880 in his effort to unseat Briscoe and become the state's first Republican governor since Reconstruction.

Sam McDonnell, the American Party candidate for governor, reported contributions of $20,842 and expenses of $20,336. Granberry's expenses exceeded his contributions by $5,417. Briscoe's contributions totalled approximately $17,000 more than his expenses.

Excluded from Briscoe's contributions is about $407,000 raised at an October 1973 dinner, where Briscoe announced his intention to run for a four-year term. The money remains in escrow, pending final determination of a lawsuit filed by Briscoe's Democratic Primary challenger Frances Farenthold.

WATER BOARD DIRECTOR CRITICIZED — The Texas Attorney General's office has asked a subcommittee of the House Environmental Committee for authority to enforce anti-pollution laws without waiting for action of the Texas Water Quality Board.

Rod E. Gorman, an assistant attorney general, told the pollution subcommittee that TWQB Executive Director Hugh Yantis is blocking enforcement of anti-pollution laws.

Gorman claimed very few major polluters are referred by the TWQB to the attorney general's office.

Phil Maxwell, director of the AG's environmental protection division, urged emergency legislation to strengthen the Attorney General's role in enforcing pollution laws.

The proposed bill would allow the attorney general to "enforce on his own initiative" such laws as the Texas Clean Air Act and the Texas Water Quality Act and any other laws or regulations "affecting the quality of the environment or the use of natural resources."

CAR DEALERS OFFER CUSTOMER AID — Texas Automobile Dealers Association has formed an in-house panel to attempt to satisfy customer gripes against 1,500 Texas new car dealers.

The seven-member Automotive Consumer Action Panel (AutoCAP) can levy up to $1,000 in fines against an erring dealer and require his expulsion from TADA. Executive Director for TADA Gene Fondren says about 90 per cent of consumer complaints can be resolved, however, by adequate communication between consumer and car dealer.

SCHOOL FINANCE — The Governor's Office of Education plans to recommend to the Legislature a system of financing Texas public schools that "focuses on the student and his needs" says Dr. Richard Hooker, chief of the office.

Hooker told an educational study panel that school funding in Texas is now calculated on a classroom-teacher unit, based on average daily attendance in public schools. The result, he said, is probably the most complicated formula in the United States for measuring school needs.

Hooker said his office plans to proposed a calculation based on a "full-time pupil equivalent."

TEXAS GETS FEDERAL DOLLARS—Texas will get $73 million from the U.S. Treasury in revenue-sharing funds for the quarter of fiscal 1975. Governor Briscoe said the state will receive about $24.5 million of the total and the rest will be channeled to city and county governments for their use on local projects.

COURTS SPEAK—The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals set a November 17 hearing in a case challenging constitutionality of the new state death penalty law.

Attorneys for former House Speaker Gus Mutscher and two aides are asking the Criminal Appeals court to take another look at its opinion approving their conviction for conspiracy to accept a bribe.

Former gubernatorial candidate Frances Farenthold's attorneys are seeking Governor Briscoe's income tax returns in connection with her suit alledging the Governor received illegal campaign contributions.

AG OPINIONS — A county, under proper circumstances, can contribute to construction of a swimming pool by an independent school district on school-owned land in the county, Atty Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

Texas Aeronautics Commission is not prohibited from assisting financially in development of a municipal airport on land leased for at least 20 years.

• A single corporation may own and operate two separate cemeteries if all requirements are met.

• Bonds issued by Guadalupe Leased Housing Corporation do not qualify to secure the deposit of state funds.

PAY WAITING—About 60,000 former Army Reservists and National Guardsmen have $1.1 million coming to them if they will come forward.

move in grief, in shock without comprehension, to their cars.

A first announcement, shortly after the assassin's bullets struck, said "there had been a mishap" its extent not yet passed on to the people in the Mart.

Then came the second.

Reporters, politicians, businessmen, their wives, policemen--all were diminished. A prayer was invoked. Many sat down once again. Other went to their parked cars to hear radio reports, or stood mute.

Upon reflection, one remembers that shrill sirens of the President's escort, their purpose yet unrealized, had screamed by the Mart while the crowd was dining, racing the stricken President and Governor to Parkland Hospital.

Soon after, Dallas newsmen assigned to cover the President's speech dashed down the isles of tables and out of the building. Other men gathered minutes later in front of the main banquet table centered by the Great Seal of the President and a special chair for Mr. Kennedy.

While many already were outside the Hall, the third announcement, the ultimate devastation of the day, came. Only then did those thousands

Most, like myself, drove from the Hall, amidst heavy, obedient traffic. Three businessmen, unable to find a cab to downtown, asked for a ride. Quietly, they entered. All of us poured our intent into radio reports of this history.

One of the three expressed appreciation for the ride. I replied something and at their destination expressed regret at such a sorrowful meeting. None wished to believe what was grim fact. At such moments, that is the effect of history.

President Johnson by then had taken the oath of office and was returning to Washington, where he is in his sixth day of new responsibility.

Governor Connally is recovering satisfactorily, quickly.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

Human nature being what it is, people have a natural curiosity about other people's money, such as how much you rekon ole so-and-so is really worth, did you hear what's - his - name has borrowed his limit at the bank and is having trouble paying his bills? Things like that.

So naturally nearly everybody in the country was interested in how much money Nelson Rockefeller has, and many were delighted to have him nominated for Vice President just to find out. Rockefeller was pleased too because up to now he wasn't sure how much he was worth either.

Anyway, just to be doing, I read his financial statement which all the newspapers published and despite the fact he has a net worth of 218 million dollars or 116 million or something, more or less, depending on what stocks are worth today, the price of cattle in Argentina, what you can get for vacant lots in New York, paintings by the old masters, and that sort of thing, still, down at the bottom of one column under Liabilities was notes payable, $1,667,600.

I nearly fell over. You mean to tell me that Rockefeller owes money at the bank? Does he buy on time? I knew times were hard and money tight, what with inflation and all, but I didn't know we were in that shape. I guess we've all got our problems.

Speaking of hard times, I've been reading articles lately saying inflation is world-wide, that the entire human race is faced with run-away inflation and if it isn't brought under control total economic collapse is staring us in the face.

All right. Say it happens, everybody and every country goes under. What I want to know is, if the whole world goes broke, who gets title to the property? It's something to think about.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

The Family Lawyer

Wrong Victim

One winter's day, Art, a teenager, was amusing himself by hurling snowballs at passing cars. One snowball missed its target and struck a pedestrian across the street, injuring his eye. Could Art be held liable for assault and battery?

In a court hearing, his lawyer said no.

"Art had no wrongful purpose toward this man," went the lawyer's argument. "Hitting him was purely accidental."

However, the court ordered Art to pay damages. The court invoked the doctrine of "transferred intent," by which an original wrongful intent—in this case, the desire to hit the passing car—was transferred to the accidental consequences.

This widely recognized doctrine is based on the law's reluctance to let a wrongdoer get off scot-free. It has even been applied in a case of mistaken identity. Thus:

A man sneaked up behind another man, thinking he was an old antagonist, and bashed him on the head. Actually, the victim happened to be a total stranger.

But that didn't help the first man when he was haled into court afterward to face a damage claim. Applying the doctrine of transferred intent, the court had no trouble finding him liable.

On the other hand, the doctrine will not apply if there was no wrongful purpose in the first place.

Suppose, for instance, that a woman who is being chased by a mugger throws a rock in his direction. And suppose the rock misses the mugger and hits an innocent bystander.

Under these circumstances, the woman could not be held responsible for injury to the bystander, because she had acted in legitimate self defense. With no wrongful intent to begin with, there would be nothing that could be transferred into legal liability.

The Lonely Heart

"I'd like to know more about the nuclear power plant you're planning."

Q. "Where will it be located?"

A. The Comanche Peak Nuclear Generating Station will be built on a site about five miles north of Glen Rose in Somervell County.

Q. "Will some other companies be getting power from the plant?"

A. Yes. The plant will be jointly owned and utilized by Texas Power & Light, Dallas Power & Light and Texas Electric Service.

Q. "How much land area will be involved?"

A. Approximately 8,500 acres. This will include a 3,200-acre lake adjoining the plant which will provide cooling water for the plant.

Q. "Have you started construction?"

A. No. The planning phase was begun in 1972 and is still in progress. Construction of the plant is expected to begin during 1975.

Q. "When will TP&L customers start getting electric power from the plant?"

A. The first of two 1,150,000-kilowatt units is scheduled to go into operation in 1980 and the second in 1982.

Q. "Why is a nuclear plant necessary?"

A. Rising costs and a shortage of future supplies of natural gas and oil compel a change to more economical and readily available fuels for generating plants. Within the next five years, TP&L will reduce its dependency on gas and oil with plants designed and constructed to burn lignite coal. While it is anticipated that lignite will continue to be an important fuel well beyond the year 2000, the long-range solution to fuel problems appears to lie in nuclear generating plants.

Q. "How safe will the plant be?"

A. The planning, construction and operation of the Comanche Peak plant is subject to close examination and rigid regulation by the Atomic Energy Commission and other federal and state agencies. Devices and procedures in the plant will guard against every conceivable possibility which might endanger plant employees or the general public. Today, there are 50 nuclear generating units in the United States and there has never been a nuclear-related injury to a commercial nuclear power plant worker or member of the public.

Choucroute et Garni Offers Pork Variety

Pack a sampling of pork's appetizing variety into a terrific continental entree for a special table celebration, suggests Reba Staggs, National Live Stock and Meat Board. Both smoked and fresh pork shoulder plus sausage provide ample and tasty "Garni" (garnish) for the "Choucroute" (sauerkraut) which simmers with potatoes, onions and apples in one big pot to make a memorable meal.

Choucroute et Garni

- 2-pound boneless pork blade (Boston) roast
- 1½ to 2-pound smoked pork shoulder roll
- 3 cups water
- 6 to 7 medium-size potatoes, halved
- 4 small onions, quartered
- 1 pound smoked bratwurst, mettwurst or Thuringer sausage links
- 2 cans (16 ounces each) sauerkraut, drained
- 3 medium-size tart red apples, each cut in 6 wedges

Place blade (Boston) shoulder and smoked shoulder roll in a kettle or large Dutch oven. Add water, cover tightly and simmer 2 hours. Add potatoes, onions, sausage and sauerkraut. Cover and continue cooking 30 minutes. Remove fresh pork and smoked shoulder and keep warm. Add apples and continue cooking for 10 minutes or until vegetables and apples are done. Slice fresh pork and smoked pork and serve on platter with sausage and drained vegetables and apples. 12 to 14 servings.

Good Pork Buy

Pork blade steaks are a less familiar cut and a thrifty buy. Most can be identified by a portion of the flat blade bone which often resembles the number seven. Some, however, are boneless. Often prepared by braising, these steaks are also delicious when broiled. Select steaks cut one-half to three-fourths inch thick and place five or more inches from heat. To keep the steaks juicy and flavorful, broil at a low to moderate temperature and turn occasionally. They can be brushed with barbecue sauce or glaze while broiling.

These versatile, meaty steaks are popular with thrifty gourmet cooks who recognize a flavor bargain. They can be cut in strips or pieces and braised to savory tenderness in a spicy sauce for an appetizing dish that appeals to discriminating taste buds.

Cotton Harvest Continues In Texas

Favorable weather conditions prevailed this past week, allowing harvesting operations to continue at a rapid pace in the Brazos and Navasota River Bottom, reports J. B. Russ, Officer in Charge, Austin Classing Office.

The Crockett and Brazos River Bottom areas were from 20-75 percent harvested.

County Agent's Notes

Apply Fertilizer To Crop Lands

By Bill McCutchen

Applying phospnorus and potassium this fall might be the right program for you. Phosphorus and potasn are not leached out of the soil and can be safely applied for next years grain sorghum or cotton crop.

Nitrogen is another matter. Nigrogen can be applied in the winter if an ammonium source is used, if it is applied after the soil tempreature is below 50 degrees F. and if it is applied only on clay or fine textured soils. You may want to consider side dressing most or all of your nitrogen in the spring following planting.

Any disadvantages in Fall fertilization should be weighed against the following advantages.

1. Using the desired fertilzer that is available.
2. Hedging against possible price increases.
3. Preventing possible delays at planting time next spring.
4. Using fertilizer costs to reduce taxable income for 1974.

Regardless of when fertilizer is applied, it just makes good sense to use a recent soil test in making your decisions.

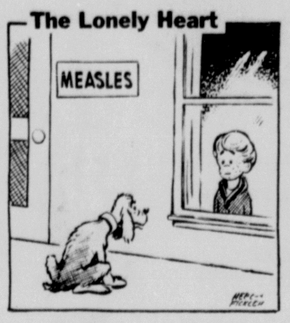
SCREWWORMS HERE

Dr. Tommy J. Barton, Cameron veterinarian reported a confirmed screwworm case on a farm 3 miles south of Cameron on October 10.

Dr. Barton warned all cattlemen in the county to observe their cattle closely and treat all wounds promptly.

Any suspected cases should be sent to the Mission Laboratory for identification.

The Lonely Heart



ETC, ETC

By Johnny Watkins

Most of us were raised somewhere else other than where we live now, usually a little town of about a thousand people or so. We knew them all, all about them, who had a good watermelon patch, who had good squirrel hunting, who had a pretty daughter, we just simply knew.

Now we have been gone from there for many years and every once in a while there is a homecoming. Such was the case for me last week. I went back home, to the little town of Kemp in Kaufman County.

In fact Kemp was named for the wife of one of my great grandfathers. The most blantant exposure to age came on the first day I was at home. Back when you and I were 16-17 we had the delightful experience of having a earth shaking romance with one of the local girls. It probably lasted part of one Summer but it occurred and was and is a part of our raising.

We were all gathered at the school on a Saturday morning shaking hands and hugging people, particularly girls we had known 35 years ago. I was talking to an old boy that had played left guard of our 13 man traveling squad of football players, when there was a slight tug at my sleeve and this feminine voice said, "Hello Johnny."

I turned and there was a slightly middle aged nice looking lady who obviously knew me from years gone by and I replied, "Hello." We each had name tags on and I looked at hers to see who she was and she squeeled, "Johnny, you don't know me." Your right, she was the great romance of many years ago. I had mortally messed in my mess kit.

But then it wasn't long after that before one of my own cousins introduced himself, not knowing who I was.

I picked up a true, actual fact story while there that I found real amusing. Maybe you will too.

Deacon Tuggle lives at Cedar Creek Lake and has his own airplane. He ranches a little bit, dabs in drilling a few oil wells, in general is a man about making a dollar.

His mother - in - law lives at Forney, about 35 - 40 miles away but Deacon hasn't seen her in a spell. So Mondays a week ago, Deacons wife, Eve, said to Deacon, "I'm taking Mother over to the hospital in Dallas for an operation, your going to be in Dallas at Love Field, while they are doing the work on your plane I want you to come out and visit Mama." Deacon did. He went into the hospital and walked up to the receptionist's desk and there were 5-6 girls and women there and one little girl said, "Yes. Sir, what can I do for your?"

Deacon said "I'm here to see my mother - in - law, what's her room number." The girl then asked, "What is your mother - in - law's name?" Deacon thought for a minute, stammered for a minute, thought some more and said, "I'll be damned if I know." To this the little girl giggled and said, "You don't known your own mother -in-law's name?"

"Well it's this way," said Deacon, "I knew her named when I married my wife 43 years ago, but that woman has been married twice since then and has outlived all of them and I don't remember that last fellow's name." Deacon then told the little girl, "Let me sit over here a minute and work on this, I may can come up with someway we can find her."

He sat and thought for a full thirty minutes and sure enough the story of the man that didn't know his mother-in-law's name went through the hospital like wildfire. In a little while Deacon looked up and there must have been a dozen nurses looking at him and laughing. He walked outside to the parking lot and there sat Eve's car. He thought, there got to be a way to find your mother-in-law in a hospital. She's here and so is my wife. So he went back in and went to the business office. He was met at the door by the business manager who said, "Are your the man that doesn't know his mother-in-law's name?" Deacon sheepishly admitted that he was. The man replied, "Maybe I can help you, what is her address and when did she come in."

Deacon said she is from Forney and the man left. In a minute he came back and said in a very stilted voice, "Mr. Tuggle, your mother - in - law's name is Mrs. Adams. She is in room 321."

It is rumored that as Mrs. Adams was being carried to the operating room she was laughing about her son-in-law not knowing her name.

That's another ham in the smokehouse.

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Compiled From Sources
Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

Price Differences . . . Demand for Bees Up . . . More Red Meat . . . Rains Slow Harvest

COMPARATIVELY, prices farmers receive for their products now are much better than they were seven years ago. The difference in the farm picture is that the prices the farmer pays for production inputs are so much higher. They give every indication that they are going higher while the prices he receives are going down. In 1967, a farmer received $1.51 a bushel for wheat, $1.42 a bushel for corn, $5.03 per hundred for rice and 18.5 cents a pound for cotton. Prices on those products September 15, 1974 were: $4.18 for wheat, $3.31 for corn, $10.60 for rice, and 42.5 cents for cotton. Last year, the banner year for prices to farmers, wheat was $4.47 a bushel on September 15, corn $2.41, rice $13.70 a hundred, and cotton 44.2 cents a pound. On the other hand, everything the farmer consumes is up and continues to go up. As one dairyman said at the recent Stephenville meeting, tractors went up $3,800 a year and baling wire that used to cost $10 a roll now costs $65 and is hard to find. Additionally, mixed dairy feed on September 15, 1973 was $127 per ton and was $155 a ton on September 15 this year. Laying feed is the same as it was last year, $160 a ton.

A WEEK OR SO ago, some TV newsmen reported that the demand for honey bees is up and that the cost of a queen bee has gone up from about $1.50 to $5 or $6. Texas has approximately 15 queen bee breeders who ship queens, mostly by mail, all over the world. It is estimated that there are 100,000 bee hives in commercial apiaries this year in Texas, and the yield of honey is expected to be 65 pounds per colony, or about 6,500,000 pounds, compared to 5,673,000 pounds last year and 7,776,000 pounds in 1972. Bad weather reduces honey making, as it did this year.

TEXAS CROP and Livestock Reporting Services reports that Texas produced 1,545,000,000 pounds of red meat (in its commercial slaughter plants) which was six per cent more than for the same eight months of 1973. That included 2,472,000 head of cattle (up six percent from the same period in 1973), 139,000 hogs (down 12 per cent) 985,500 sheep and lambs (3,000 head more than for the same period in 1973). In August, 342,000 head of cattle were killed, the same amount as in July but 18 per cent above August, 1973. Rains have made pastures better all across Texas, and most livestock will go into winter in good condition. Wet weather damaged some hay but hay baling is still active in some areas.

THE RAINS slowed down harvest over much of the State and also the seeding of wheat and oats. Wheat seeding is estimated at 55 per cent complete and oat planting at about 30 per cent. On the Low and High Plains, early stands of wheat are making good growth. Some army worms have been reported in early oats. Cotton harvest was almost stopped the first week of October by bad weather, but harvest was estimated from 20 to 25 per cent complete, compared to about 15 per cent complete at the same time last year. Harvest of the second crop of rice is getting underway, sorghum harvest is more than half complete, and peanut harvest is about a third complete. Sorghum harvest is on about the same schedule as last year but peanut harvest is behind. Corn harvest is about 50 per cent complete over the State, and some early fields of soybeans are reported ready for harvest along the Upper Texas Coast and in East Texas. Early varieties of pecans are being harvested in Central and South Central Texas.

THE NEW Southern United States Trade Association (SUSTA) is planning to open an office in the International Trade Mart in New Orleans to promote export of Southern agricultural products. Texas Department of Agriculture Commissioner John C. White is vice president of SUSTA, and Florida Commissioner Doyle Conner is president . . . And speaking of exports, Texas shipped a total of 213,201 head of cattle to other states during July, compared to 369,731 in July, 1973.

Inflation Both Beneficial, Harmful For Agriculture

"Inflation has both beneficial and harmful effects on agriculture," says Dr. Wayne Havenga, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

One of the beneficial effects is that of rising land values.

"The value of Texas farm and ranch land doubled from 1966 to 1973, which is an increase of over 10 percent compounded annually," notes the economist.

On the other hand, one of the harmful effects of inflation is the fact that production costs continue to increase.

"The estimates are that all production costs for agriculture have increases 25 percent during the past year," points out Hayenga. "This includes an 80 percent increase in fertilizer prices, 50 percent increase in fuel and baling wire, and a 30 percent increase in herbicide and insecticide costs."

According to Hayenga, inflation also effects the demand for agricultural products.

"We can expect an increased demand for lower cost food products and those requiring less processing and a lowered demand for higher cost, highly processed products, as inflation continues to affect the purchasing power of consumers.

"Yet, inflation will not affect agriculture to the same extent and in the same time period that it affects other industries," says the Texas A&M University System economist. "On a year to year basis, prices received by farmers will continue to be more responsive to supply changes than in other industries. Low crop yields will generally boost prices while high yields will drive prices down."

This means that price effects caused by supply changes will be felt quickly by agricultural producers while the effects of inflation will come about more gradually.

Hayenga went on to say that "inflation can be viewed as a tax which often hits hardest at those who can least afford to pay it. It sometimes destroys incentive to save money because interest earned doesn't equal the increased costs of goods at a later time. Inflation also makes meaningful long-term economic planning very difficult."

He lists the alternatives to rising inflation as increasing taxes, cutting government spending, and slowing the growth of the money supply.

"The reason we haven't stopped inflation is that many people feel the 'cure' is worse than the 'disease', that raising taxes or cutting money supplies will harm our economy more than mild inflation," the economist notes.

Cotton Plants Need Calcium To Grow

Research by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station shows that calcium is essential for developing strong, well-fruiting cotton plants.

Calcium is necessary for carbohydrate movement from the leaves, where the carbohydrates are formed during the day, to other plant parts where they are used for growth and fruit development.

Radioactive carbon tests have demonstrated that when calcium is deficient, carbohydrates form buy accumulate and remain in the leaves.

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

There's a revolution happening in emergency medical care in Texas.

Until a very few years ago, the only ambulance service in any Texas city was operated by a private company--in many cases, a funeral home. That's still true in the vast majority of Texas communities. In many instances ambulance service had neither the training nor equipment to provide complete emergency care in the field.

In recent years, more and more local governments have assumed full responsibility for providing emergency medical services.

The City of Dallas provides an illustrative example. That city assumed responsibility for emergency ambulance service in 1972, but, of course, it didn't happen overnight. Months of planning by a committee preceded the first day of the new operation. The committee included representatives of the County Medical Society, the Dallas Fire Department, the Dallas City Health Department, and the Southwestern Medical Center of the University of Texas.

The elaborate planning process included a computer simulation of the projected 25,000 ambulance calls that would be received the first year, to determine the optimum location for the ambulance stations. Even though the first year actually saw nearly 40,000 calls, instead of 25,000, the computer analysis was so accurate that the average ambulance response time was less than five minutes.

The most important step in providing the new ambulance service was to provide trained ambulance crews. It had already been decided that the Dallas Fire Department would operate the ambulances, and 105 new firemen were hired to permit more experienced men to be trained for emergency ambulance duty.

The training was provided by another cooperative effort, with the Dallas City Health Department providing overall coordination, the Southwestern Medical Center providing most of the faculty, and the Texas State Health Department contributing its advice and counsel based on past experience.

Anyone who had been a fireman for more than a year was eligible for the first level of training as an Emergency Medical Technician, or EMT. There were more volunteers than there were openings in the first class. So far, 120 Dallas firemen have received EMT training, and eventually every fire company in the city will have at least one EMT.

The second stage was to upgrade the EMT's to full-fledged paramedics. The first paramedic class was held in 1973, and again there were more volunteers than there were places in the class. In less than two years, Dallas has trained enough firemen to provide a minimum of one paramedic and three EMT's on every shift in each of the 16 ambulance companies.

Fireman-EMT Brian Dorethy, an ambulance driver at Fire Station 6, described the EMT training as consisting of "What it takes for a body to exist biologically. How to get air into somebody, to keep the blood circulating, heart massage, breathing for somebody--that's basically what they teach, to sustain life, to get them to the hospital."

According to the firemen, the paramedic training is considerably more advanced and more difficult. In fact, according to paramedic Pat Sullivan of Station 6, "A lot of people didn't want to volunteer until they heard how excellent the training was. I, frankly, wasn't head-over-heels about it, but I didn't want to miss out on anything new that was happening."

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Baltz of Waxahachie announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Linda Marie, to Robert Deckard Grimes, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Grimes of Cameron. Miss Baltz is a 1972 graduate of Waxahachie High School and a 1974 graduate of Tyler Junior College. Mr. Grimes is a 1972 graduate of C. H. Yoe High School and also attended Tyler Junior College and is currently employed with the Exxon Company in Cameon. The couple plan a December 7 wedding at St. Josephs Catholic Church in Waxahachie.

Denim Jeans Still Favorite

COLLEGE STATION--Fashion forecasts show the dress may be making a comeback, but nothing will ever replace jeans, according to one clothing specialist.

She's Marlene Odle, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Jeans are no longer exclusive property of the junior customer--they're making a strong appeal to the contemporary age group also," she noted.

Blue denim is seen not only in jeans, but also in skirts, jackets and coats.

"Denim is made from 100 percent cotton - a scarce commodity now. With jeans making up a large percentage of the sportswear market, a majority of the cotton is being diverted there, the specialist explained.

She noted that small stores specializing in pants and jeans are taking much of the market from department stores. But the goods in these specialty shops are usually higher priced - although the quality and variety is generally better, she said.

JANET WINTERROWD

'Fashionwise In '75' Feature For P&P Club

Fashionwise in '75 was the subject of the program for Thursday's meeting of the Pleasure and Profit club in the home of Mrs. Robert Clark.

The hostess began by showing clothes to wake-up to crisp, carefully tailored sportswear that would take you through the day in comfor t and style. Would you believe several manufacturers are showing coordinated groups that see you through any occasion, day or night? Solid and patterned pants; long and short skirts; sleeveless and long sleeved blouses; shirt jacket and cardigan style tops; and sleeveless vests--some with nailhead trim!

Mix and match for the super sporty look, or the soft feminine look for evening. Many coordinates will take you right through the winter months ahead and into spring and summer.

Should you have need of dresses, subtle earth tones and vibrant reds and greens in tailored styles are the in things. Camel and grey are once again highly favored colors for fall. Be as feminine as you feel in satin soft polyester, or trim and tailored in a glen plaid suit. Many of the skirts have a soft flare that becomes the mature figure.

Evening fashions are featruing the new look of the pajama-pant. They have soft flowing lines with a jacket cover up for the chill of evening, or air conditioning.

The long dress is again a favorite for the very special occasion and holiday season. Again, be as bold as you dare with exciting colors.

When cold winds blow, protect yourself with a "man made leather look coat," or a brilliant hued "sweater look" cover up for an exciting lift to your spirits.

When day is ended and it's time to retire, there are soltly feminine gowns and robes, with matching shoes. The colors are soft--the trims are of lace. Be glad you are a woman!

Family Honors Mrs Ethridge

Mrs. Birdie Ethridge was honored on her birthday by her five sisters and her husband, Jiles.

Honoring Mrs. Ethridge were Miss Harriet Griffin, Mrs. Alma McGlinchey, Mrs. Otis Witt, Mrs. Helen Givens of Fort Worth and Miss Minnie C. Griffin of Dallas.

In late afternoon the group went sight seeing over the city and out into the country visiting home places where they were born, with special admiration for the county's big beautiful trees.

B&PW Club Meets

The B&PW Club met Monday evening on October 7 at the club house on Fourth and Milam.

The opening prayer was given by Mrs. W. H. Lucas and Mrs. Ruby Mosley conducted the business session.

Mrs. Willie Falkner gave the program which concerned women helping women.

The members were served refreshments by Mrs. Dedi Payne and Mrs. Willie Falkner.

Tapestries To Be Displayed

The second studio exhibition of this season, a collection of contemporary tapestries woven by Egyptian children, opened October 8 at the Waco Creative Art Center. The weavings, ranging in size from 6'x12' to 2'x3' are made by children from around eight to seventeen years old in a village near Giza, not far from the Pyramids.

Paul Harris, the Art Center's director, discovered the tapestries in the collection of Claude Albritton and David Yancey, Dallas importers. Harris said, "The free and imaginative design quality of the weavings and their beautifully subtle colors, which are the result of natural dyes, attracted me to these works."

The exhibition of tapestries will continue through Oct.26 Currently, "Laurence Scholder: Prints," a collection of etchings by the Dallas print maker is in the Center's gallery. "Paintings by Ronald Thomason" will open in the gallery on Oct. 19.

These exhibitions are made possible by the support of the Texas Commission on the Arts and Humanities.

Thrall Girl Named Miss Wool Runnerup

Sewing -- and wearing--wool in Central Texas didn't seem so funny after all, a happy Janet Winterrowd from Thrall admitted when she was named wool division runner-up in the 1974 State 4-H Dress Revue, held in conjunction with the State Fair of Texas, last week in Dallas.

She was awarded a $50 bond by the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, and modeled her self-created wool fashion for State Fair goers last weekend.

State 4-H Dress Revue was sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, with an Honor Luncheon hosted by J. C. Penney Co.

For her entry, Miss Winterrowd constructed a three-piece wool ensemble with jacket, pants and vest.

The vest, in a navy, gold-and-white plaid was fully lined and featured front-button closing and bound buttonholes.

Navy-colored pants were designed with a high waistline, front zipper closing, and straight full legs. The semi-fitted jacket had notched collar, full-length sleeves, patch pockets and top stitching. Wooden buttons added color and accented the jacket and vest plaid pattern.

Accessories included navy felt hat, long sleeve blouse, navy shoes, and a navy-white-and-gold scarf.

The coed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Winterrowd, has been a 4-H member for eight years.

Honors include being named county delegate to the National 4-H Citizenship Tour in Washington, D. C., as well as county and district Dress Revue winner, county 4-H Princess, and Williamson County Gold Star Girl.

She has served her local 4-H club as treasurer, reporter, recreation leader, alternate council delegate, and cooking class president.

Other activities include serving as FHA second vice president, and Varsity Band reporter.

Dress Revue winners were Ramona Skinner of Childress, statewide winner, Cheryl Wolbrueck of Austin, wool division winner, and Jane Ellen Schneider of Mathis, cotton division winner.

BOB BULLOCK

Bullock Visits Here On Campaign

Bob Bullock, Democratic nominee for State Comptroller, was in Cameron this week to say "Thank you" to the voters of Milam County who gave him a 76.5 per cent majority in the May primary.

Bullock won the Democratic nomination with the largest percentage vote of any contested statewide race. He carried all but one of Texas' 254 counties.

Visiting every county in Texas during the primary, Bllock said he "prefers to talk to the people personally instead of hiding behind words and gimmicks ground out by clever public relations people."

The size of his victory shows the people support improvements and reforms he recommends for the Comptroller's Office, Bullock said.

Bullock, 45, gained statewide acclaim as Secretary of State. He also has served as Assistant Attorney General and a member of the House of Representatives. He is a veteran of the Korean Conflict and lives in Austin with his wife Amelia and son Bobby.

During the campaign Bullock has called for an end to faulty collection methods which he says cost the state millions of dollars a year by 'fly-by-night' operators.

Bullock also has promised to cut down the amount of red tape facing businesses in handling and paying state taxes. Other reforms urged by Bullock have included quicker processing of city sales taxes by the state.

"I'm fully confident that the people are more than anxious to see that their hard-earned tax dollars are carefully collected and wisely spent," Bullock said.

Seven Seas To Be Open

Weekends in October will provide a last chance for visitors to Arlington to see the world's largest, inland sea life park, Seven Seas.

The Arlington City Council has voted to close the 35 acre attraction at the end of the 1974 season.

However, General Manager Jim Ashworth said the park will be operating as scheduled, on Saturdays and Sundays only, through Oct. 27. Operating hours on those days will be 10 a.m. until 6 p.m.

NEW KINGDOM HALL has Spanish motif.

Kingdom Hall Sets Open House

The Cameron congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses will hold an open house and dedication ceremonies Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 19 and 20, in its newly expanded and remodeled Kingdom Hall at 208 E. 22nd Street.

The open house will be held from 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday with the public invited to come. Refreshments will be served. That night starting at 7 p.m. a special program will be held to dedicate the new building.

Derwood Herblin will give a history of the Cameron congregation and J. M. Norris of San Antonio will give the dedication address.

Services will be held in the new hall starting Sunday at 10 a.m.

Built almost completely with volunteer labor, made up mostly of member s of the local congregation this Spanish designed structure is complete with central heat and air conditioning.

Parking is provided in a newly-graveled parking lot adjoining the building. A pool and desert landscape with cactus plants graces the grounds of the building.

Open beams adorn the blown accoustical ceiling and are accented by an antique gold hanging chandeliers. The walls are wainscoted in Spanish oak paneling. Decorative wrought iron has been used and a patio door opens onto a n open-faced brick garden. The original building houses the restrooms, library, literature rooms and Bible study rooms.

Texas Population Rising Rapidly

Contrary to the national trend, Texas' population is rising rapidly and is expected to reach almost 13 million by 1980.

Numbers of blacks and Mexican-Americans are growing at a faster rate compared to the state's Anglo-population.

These and other trends were outlined during the 29th annual Town and Country Church Conference at Texas A&M University.

Dr. R. L. Skrabanek of the A&M Sociology and Anthropology Department said population development studies should be considered by the clergy and lay leaders in planning church location, programs, goals , and activities.

He said Texas had 11.2 million people in 1970. It now has 11.9 million, and the projection is for 12.8 million by 1980. Birth rate has declined, but migration into the state is surging.

"We are adding about 150,000 annually and may exceed the 12.8 million projected for 1980 if other states follow through on their announced policy of wanting no more growth." the sociologist said.

As for ethnic trends, Spanish surname persons in 1970 made up 18.2 percent of Texas' population. Blacks amounted to 12.5 percent, other non-whites 0.6 percent, and Anglos 68.7 pecent.

Blacks and Spanish sur name people, Skrabanek pointed out, increased slightly faster in number than did Anglos during the last decade, and they continue to do so now.

The speaker also noted that widening life expectancies between males and females are resulting in women outnumbering men. In 1900, females outlived males by three years. Now it's eight years.

As late as 1950, Texas has 15,000 more males. But by 1960, the ladies outnumbered the men by 90,000, and 234,000 by 1970.

"Women are projected to outnumber men by 410,000 by 1980," Skrabanek said.

Lower birth rates and longer life expectancies are producing a fast buildp of older people in Texas, widows in particular.

Texas had 160,000 fewer youngsters under 5 years of age in 1970 that in 1960, Skrabanek explained. During the same period, the number of older persons (65 and over) increased by 247,000.

Not long ago I was driving home along the parkway, depressed and worried by many problems. The day was bleak and gloomy. Huge clouds boiled and churned above dark, forbidding mountains. Even the foliage hung limp and still.

Suddenly the clouds parted and a ray of sun streaked through. In that fleeting moment the landscape became beautiful—grayness transformed into mauves, deep blues and lively greens. It was like watching Creation. For the first time in a long time, I thought of God. And I prayed as I had been taught long ago in my church.

That was a turning point. Since then God and His Church have once more become a part of my life, and my problems have disappeared in a way I never dreamed possible.

God's goodness is always present. Go to your church, and learn the truths that can transform your life.

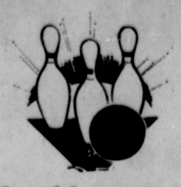
HERALD SPORTS



Sports Spotlight

By Forrest Guess

The big test for the Yoemen will come Friday night when they will take on the Caldwell Hornets. The Hornets have proved their strength by whipping Hearne last Friday. A win for the Hornets this Friday would be the next thing to a district championship. The Hornets' schedule after Friday night is rather simple. A team effort and a sound mental attitude is a must to beat this suprisingly tough squad.

The Yoe defense again held their opponents scoreless and have only allowed two touchdowns all season. This is an average of only 2.4 points a ballgame. The offense is also doint it's job by totaling up 81 points thus far this season. This is an average of over 16 points a game. The blocking for the offensive runners has been super and a continued effort by these Yoemen will assure the team of a district championship! These young men who make up this powerful interior line are: Brian Cobb #65, Mike Mueck, #70, David Fincher #71, Joe Smitherman #72.

Coach Ed Cauley had the following remarks about the Westlake game, "I am real proud of our young men, they did a good job." Cauley also stated, "Willie Bell did a real good job, Westlake was keying on Kopriva and Bell came through."

The head coach said, "This week we have got our hands full, this Caldwell team can explode from any place on the field. They are a real powerful team. They have several outstanding players, they have Jerry Harrison, a fullback who gained 1137 yards rushing last year. They have 5 people who can bust the game open anytime." Cauley continued. "If they (Caldwell) win this ballgame, they are home free. We're going to have to be ready, it's on the line Friday night and our men know it." Coach Cauley expressed his hope that the largest Cameron crowd will converge at Caldwell Friday night.

I feel that a team that has the pride and determination of this 1974 Yoeman team deserves enthusiastic backers. A team that displays Yoe spirit deserves fans that also display Yoe spirit.

The top contenders in district 23 AA are: Cameron 2-0-0; Caldwell 2-0-0; Hearne 1-1-0, Rosebud-Lott 1-1-0.

Six Local Winners In PP&K Contest

Punt, Pass, and Kick competition netted several local winners. The winners in the Rockdale competition included; 9 year olds, Trevor Turner 2nd place and Mike williams 3rd place. In the ten year old group, Jeff Kembrel 3rd place and Mariano DeLaRosa 3rd place. Bill Huffman and 11 year old, placed 2nd in his division. James Mondrik was the only first place winner for Cameron and will represent the 12 years old in district competition in Houston. The competition is scheduled for Saturday Oct. 19. The local competition at Rockdale was sponsored by Gaither Motors.

District Leaders Meet At Caldwell

The two leading contenders for district 23 AA will meet Friday night in Caldwell. Both teams enter the game 2-0-0- for the season and both had impressive victories last week. The Caldwell Hornet's stunned the Hearne Eagles by defeating them 30-13.

The Hornets have 4 offensive and 6 defensive holdovers from their 9-1-0 season last year. The team posses one of the quickest running backs in the state. Jerry Harrison gained 1137 yards rushing last season and is presently gaining over 100 yards a ballgame. Harrison is also a regular on defense and plays the linebacker position and is averaging over 21 tackles a game.

The Hornet offensive line averages in just over 175 pounds and nets 2 seniors, 2 juniors, and 1 sophomore. The backfield average weight is 178 pounds and is led by a junior quarterback, Tommy Garbs.

Their defensive alignment is basically a 5-3 set with a man for man secondary. The Caldwell defense is one of the quickest in the state. They have not switched to zone coverage this season. To play a man to man is a display of quick and talented material. Their basic offensive set is the straight T, and the Hornets run mostly power plays into the interior line. After several ground gainers, Tommy Garbs will signal speedy Carl Esparza, #40, for the bomb. This attack gained the Hornets two valuable TDs over Hearne.

Caldwell will also use John Ayers a sophomore for many of their power plays. Ayers was recently moved to the Varsity after being on the JV early in the season.

Caldwell will end the tough part of the season Friday night and will lack Manor, Leander, Rosebud-Lott, and Elgin. The game is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. at Caldwell Hornet Field.

All Four Squads Score Victories

In grid action last Thursday night, all Cameron football squads scored victories. This is the first time in several years that each team from each grade has won every game.

SEVENTH GRADE

In seventh grade action, the Yoe Yoe's took early command over the Rosebud-Lott team. In the first quarter action Dean Lewis broke for a 52 yard run that netted him 6 points. Lewi s carried the ball in for the two point conversion. Luther Hoyke scored late in the 2nd quarter from five yards out. The two point conversion try failed. The final Yoe Yoe score came when Dean Lewis plunged in from one yard out. PAT for two failed. The final play of the game gave Rosebud-Lott their only score when quarterback Jesse Valasquez completed a 35 yard touchdown pass to Ricky Parcus. The two point PAT was good. The final score, 7th grade Yoe Yoe's on top 20-8.

EIGHTH GRADE

The eighth grade experienced their first season victory by out scoring the Cougars of Rosebud-Lott, 18-0.

Kenneth Price, #3, was called on from 8 yards out and scrambled in for the 6. The two point conversion try failed. Mid-way through the 2nd quarter, the Cougars marched the pigskin to the Yoe 5 yard line on their only offensive threat of the night. Ronald Cobb with a tackle, knocked the ball lose then recovered the fumble to spoil the Cougars hopes to tie the game.

With 2:05 left in the third quarter, Ronald Cobb, QB, connected with Kenneth Price for a 30 yard TD pass.

For his third TD of the evening Kenneth Price got the command and evaded tacklers for 53 yards and scored the final TD for the Yoe Yoe's. The final score was 18-0 in favor of the Yoe Yoe's.

NINTH GRADE

The ninth grade squad traveled to Austin Westlake to score their second victory of the season. With two quick TDs the ninth grade team was to own the field for the remainder of the night. It was David Rosemond on an end sweep from 20 yards out for the first touchdown. On a super speed run up the middle, Michael Knight out ran tacklers on his 48 yard score. David Rosemond stunned the Chaparal's with an 85 yard TD run. The half time ended with the ninth grade well ahead of the Chaparal's, 18-0.

The final two Yoe touchdowns came early in the third quarter. First it was Rodrick Kelley scoring on a 15 yard pass from QB James Burnett. Kelley set up the next TD by intercepting a Chaparal pass. Michael Knight had the honors to take the ball in from the one yard line. All PATs failed. With only 4:30 left in the game, the Chaparal's were able to score. The score board showed the visitors from Cameron on top 30-7.

JUNIOR VARSITY

The JV team was able to score their third season victory by walking past Austin Westlake 44-6. Aaron Miller was the first JV Yoeman to score. The PAT failed. Sam Green, on a 75 yard kick off return, carried the ball across the magic line for 6. The third score came when QB Richard Raymond connected with James Walker on a six yard pass. The PAT was good by Komar. Robert Miller plunged in from 3 yards out for 6. Late in the third quarter action, Aaron Miller and Robert Miller found their way across the goal line to assure the JV of the victory. Ysidoro Tamez got his foot in the picture when he booted a 30 yard field goal that went straight through the uprights. The final score 44 for the Yoemen and 6 for Westlake.

The Freshmen and Junior Varsity will take on the Caldwell Hornets at Yoe Field Thursday night starting at 6:00. The seventh and eighth graders will travel to Caldwell.

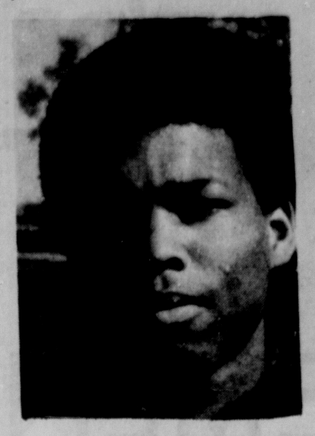
TALENT SPOTLIGHT



Kenneth Scott

Kenneth Scott #15 stands 6' 0" and weighs 165 pounds. He is a 17 year old junior who participated on the junior varsity squad. Kenneth is the substitute quarterback and is the alternate safety on defense.

Kenneth has six brothers they are: Richard a senior, Lonnie, Raymond, James and Jimmy. He has two sisters, Elsie and Evelyn.

Kenneth's hobbies are watching the Dallas Cowboys and backing the Oakland A's. His favorite college team is the University of Oklahoma. Kenneth has received one letter in Basketball and one letter each in Track and Baseball.

During the past summer kept in shape for football and also had a part time job working for Neil Barr's Texaco. With strong talent backing up this power house the Yoemen will have depth to win their share of games. Kenneth has displayed a strong mental attitude for the Yoe squad and his willingness to participate has aided the Yoe High athletic program. The total team effort is what has brought the Yoemen to the fame they are enjoying.

Mike White

Mike White, #42 is a 17 year old junior. Mike is the starting split-end and alternates as the half-back during the defensive action. He has received one varsity letter for his efforts last season. Mike is one of the smaller Yoemen but always gets the job done, he weighs 148 and stands 5' 10".

Mike is the son of Mrs. Gladys White of 1103 N. Polk, in Cameron. He has one brother Willie who was a 1970 graduate of Yoe High. Mike has four sisters, they are, Debra freshman, Gladys and Henritta, and Norma.

Mike's hobbies include coin collecting and participating in all sports activities. Oklahoma University is his favorite college team and he backs the Dallas Cowboys.

Last year Mike lettered in football and basketball. He also ran in the Yoe High track program. He has plans to continue these same sports activities this season. Mike is an asset to the football program but his talents are also important in the other athletic phases.

Cover Proves He's Not Over Hill

Bill Fornes, over 30 years old from Copperas Cove, proved that when you are over 30 you're not "over the hill" when he took first place in the Over 30 class at the Cen-Tex Motocross Sunday, Oct.6.

Richard George of Bryan was second place winner, Art De Vary, third, Gayle Bass fourth and Jim Mayes fifth.

Tom Holton of Temple was first place winner in the mini bike class with Bucky Houston of Temple second and Danny Coker of Cameron third. Lee Stubblefield of Austin won first place in the 100 cc class, David Bingham second and Ronnie Tanner third.

Eddy Coker of Cameron won the 125 novice class, Richard King took second place and Joe Beasley third. Donnie Parker won first place in the 250 cc novice class, Steve Bircher second, Rodney Allen third.

In the Powder Puff races, Cindy Wiggins of Killeen won first place in this special race for ladies. She was followed by Cindy Belote of Harker Heights who finished secod, Sueanna Earle of Copperas Cove was third place winner and Judy Butler of Milano won fourth.

For all Powder Puff racers this race gives trophies first through fifth place with no entry fee. These races will be a regular at the Cen-Tex Motocross every first and third Sunday of the month for all girls who want to race.

Don Briscoe received a first place trophy in the 175 cc class, Eddy Tanner second, Randy Jones third. Rober Scrivener won first in the 350cc open novice class, Billy Skinner second, Ronny Harris of Waco third.

Chuck Earle of Copperas Cove won first in the 350cc open expert class, Billy Andrews second, O. G. Fox third.

Another special race featured every first and third Sunday is the Buddy Races. The first place team was O. J. Fox and Joe Beasley, being pressured hard by "Smoky Joe" Milian of Austin and Eddy Coker of Cameron. Also giving a real close race was Tommy Cochran of Belton and Rennie Tanner both placing third.

HALLOWEEN IS COMING!

Halloween is coming! This is a time of year that youngsters of all ages look forward to the snappy fall days and evenings that make parties more fun.

Why not entertain the grown-ups after they take the children trick-or-treating, or after the football game with a do-ahead late supper party. Make-it-easy decorations using fall vegetables and fruits heaped in a large bowl will set the stage for this fun party. Set your table or buffet before you leave for the evening. Then all that's left to do is re-heat the food and put it into appropriate serving dishes!

Chili Con Carne*

Double Corn Chowder*

Relish Plate

Bread Sticks Assorted Crackers

Old Fashioned Carmel Apples*

Beverages

Simmer your favorite Chili Con Carne and this excitingly different Chowder early in the day. The flavors will be better blended and party-time will be easier for the hostess.

If you need assistance with your menus, recipes, or if you would like other information, please write to me; I'll be glad to help.
